Breeders Crown Special Feature

Trainer Chuck Sylvester fastens a special racing mask on the face of outstanding 2-year-old filly pacer So Cozy, the favorite in Saturday night's $500,000 Breeders Crown at Freestate

She wears a mask when she works, and she's already made over $600,000 this vear.

> A bank robber? A lady wrestler?

No, this masked marvelette is strictly on the up-and-up. She's a fast 2-year-old harness racing filly named So Cozy, who figures as the favorite for the $575,000 Breeders Crown Saturday night at Freestate Raceway.

The mask is not a disguise. It's a special piece of equipment designed by trainer Chuck Sylvester that has transformed So Cozy from a skittish also-ran into a championship performer.

So Cozy's mask has just one function: it protects the filly's face from flying dirt thrown back at her by the hooves of other horses during a race.

"So Cozy had problems early in the year, when we first introduced her to racing," said Sylvester. "When dirt hit her in the face, she would back away from the horse in front of her. She wouldn't follow as she should, and therefore she just wasn't competitive."

But Sylvester knew she could be.

A $325,000 yearling purchase at the Kentucky Standardbred Sale last fall, So Cozy came with all the looks and credentials to follow in the footsteps of her sister, Follow My Star, who has earned over $2 million. Winning bidder on the bay baby was the Alnoff Stable, of Jericho, N.Y. The new owners turned her over to Sylvester to train.

In early lessons, So Cozy exhibited high speed. But when it came time to race against other horses, she shied from the flying dirt.

Sylvester's solution was a mask, or hood, as backsiders call it.

Racing fans have seen hoods on horses. Generally, a hood holds other pieces of equipment in place on a horse's head, such as ear muffs and goggles. Sylvester simply used the hood as a protective mask.

'As soon as we put the mask over her face it completely turned her around," said Sylvester. "She accepted everything, and didn't mind the dirt at all."

After donning the mask, So Cozy completely reversed a lackluster start, and forged to the forefront of North America's 2-year-old filly pacers. With superstar driver John Campbell in the bike, So Cozy has won 10 of 15 starts including her last seven in a row - and earned $637,260.

So Cozy is no secret to Freestate fans. Included in her victory string are triumphs in the Lady Baltimore and the Hanover Filly Stake, in her only two appearances at the Laurel, Md. track.

A Breeders Crown triumph Saturday will not come easily, however. So Cozy's competition includes such standouts as French Dressing, Glider and Leah

Also here for the Crown is lightly-raced Sabra Almahurst, owned by Charles Day and N.Y. Yankee boss George Steinbrenner. Sabra burst into the picture last week when she upset stakes fillies in Kentucky - returning a whopping $257 for a $2 win ticket.

The race's best name belongs to a Canadian filly sired by No Nukes, called Three Mile Island.

Sylvester, who also trains trotting champion Mack Lobell, feels So Cozy's top Breeders Crown competition will be French Dressing, from the Stanley Dancer stable. But he has plenty of confidence in his charge.

"I trained So Cozy Friday in Kentucky, and she trained real good," said Sylvester. "She's coming into this race at Freestate in great shape. She's won seven in a row, and I don't see any problems with her."

The Breeders Crown climaxes a 115-night meeting at Freestate Raceway. Post time for the first race on closing night is 7:30 p.m.
